Recent research shows that strategy and talent development are areas where board directors wish to focus more time. Amy Franko specializes in these areas; as an entrepreneur and growth expert she is ideal for growth-oriented companies in technology, manufacturing, and professional services.

Amy serves as Immediate Past Chair of the Board of Directors for Girl Scouts of Ohio's Heartland, a Top 25 non-profit organization in the region with $22M in assets. During her four-year term she led a governance board of 21 directors. The organization consistently ranks in the top 10% of 110 councils nationwide in key growth and performance metrics. She also led governance efforts surrounding a $16M capital campaign for a STEM leadership center. She serves on the finance committee and was chair of the board development/nominating committee for two years.

The key director skills she developed include board governance, executive committee and audit leadership, financial governance, succession planning for board and CEO roles, and nominating committee leadership.

Amy is the Founder & CEO of Amy Franko Associates, a leader in sales strategy. With no outside investment, she launched and grew the firm to consistently strong P&L results since the company's inception. Clients include the mid-market and Fortune 1000 across multiple industries. Amy's clients seek her leadership with sales strategy, business segment growth, executive advisory, talent development, and succession planning.

One client experienced a 15X return on their investment by implementing her Strategic Selling for Professional Services program during the pandemic. With another client she led strategy creation to double sales growth in current market segments. She has assisted clients in designing sales strategies to align with digital marketing initiatives. She has also advised clients on talent development programs, executive-level hiring, and succession planning.

Prior to her current roles, Amy was a sales professional and leader at global technology companies IBM and Lenovo. She was responsible for revenue generation in multiple sectors. A significant accomplishment was the design and implementation of mobile computing programs in IBM's education sector. This led to significant growth and brand recognition in an emerging market segment.

Her expertise is widely available on social networks, respected publications, and high-profile sales and leadership podcasts. Notable publications include Fast Company, Smart Business, Top Sales World, Chief Learning Officer, and Training Industry.
